Frequently asked questions

Q: When do I go to an urgent care center?
A: Urgent care centers provide care for sudden illnesses or injuries that require prompt medical attention but are not emergencies*. Urgent care centers are a smart alternative to hospital emergency rooms because they usually offer shorter waiting times. Urgent care centers are also open late and do not require an appointment, making them a good choice for patients who need non-emergency* medical attention after hours or on weekends and holidays. In addition, your co-payment may be lower depending on your insurance benefit plan.

If you choose to visit an urgent care center, your doctor should be contacted prior to your visit so he or she can better coordinate your urgent care medical needs. Your doctor can be contacted 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling his or her office. If you are instructed by your doctor or his or her staff to go to an affiliated urgent care center, please see the list in this booklet.

*Please note: Urgent care centers are not emergency departments. If you are experiencing acute symptoms that you believe could result in serious jeopardy to your health or your unborn child’s or serious impairment or dysfunction of your body, please seek medical help as quickly as possible by either calling 911 or going to the nearest emergency hospital.

Q: What do I do if I need to go to a specialist?
A: Please contact your primary care doctor and let them know your concerns.

Q: How do I obtain an authorization/referral? How do I get the status of my authorization/referral?
A: To get an authorization/referral, have your primary care doctor submit the request to the medical group. To get status of your authorization/referral, you need to call your primary care doctor.

Q: My authorization was denied. How do I appeal that decision?
A: To appeal a denied authorization/referral, please contact your insurance company/health plan to file a grievance. The insurance company/health plan will review your denied request and will either overturn or uphold the decision.

Q: How do I get a second opinion out of a network?
A: Please contact your primary care doctor and let them know your request and they will contact your insurance company/health plan for the authorization/referral.

A great doctor appointment starts with you

First visit
- When you see the doctor and office staff, introduce yourself and let them know by which name you like to be called—an example, William may want to go by Bill.
- Learn what days are busiest and what times are best to call.
- Share your medical history. Tell the doctor about your illnesses, operations, medical conditions and other doctors you see.
- Give the new doctor all of your former doctor’s names and addresses, especially if they are in a different city.
- Give information about your medications.
- Tell the doctor about your habits.
- Voice other concerns.

Making good use of your time
- Be honest. For instance, you might say: “I have been trying to quit smoking, as you recommended, but I am not making much headway.”
- Decide what question(s) are most important. Pick three or four questions or concerns that you want to talk about most.
- Remember the doctor may not be able to answer all of your questions. Even the best doctor may be unable to answer some questions. If a doctor regularly brushes off your questions or symptoms as simply the effects of aging, you may want to think about looking for another doctor.
- Take notes. Take along a notepad and pencil and write down the questions you have for the doctor. Write down the main points or ask the doctor to write them down for you. Call or email the doctor. If you are uncertain about the doctor’s instructions after you get home, call the office.

If you’ll be seeing your primary care doctor for the first time, you’ll want to schedule your first visit appointment.

Important: To seek same-day care during regular office hours, you should always contact your primary care physician (PCP) first before going to an urgent care facility. Urgent care is not a substitute for the regular care you receive from your PCP.

Health insurance plan; medical network; doctor: What does it all mean?

Health insurance plan

Your health plan pays the cost of covered health care services.

This can include:

- Medical care
- Behavioral health
- Prescription drug coverage

Medical network (PrimeCare of Corona)

You choose your medical network through your health plan. The medical network gives you access to your primary care doctor, hospitals and other health care providers. Your medical network coordinates with your primary care doctor to deliver the medical benefits available to you through your health plan.

This can include:

- Hospitalization
- Urgent care
- Specialist referrals
- Case management
- Lab services
- X-ray services

Your primary care doctor and health care team

You choose or have chosen a primary care doctor through the medical network. Your primary care doctor along with their health care team will work with you to deliver the medical care you need and offer the best treatment plan for you.

Your primary care doctor coordinates the following care:

- If you need a referral to a specialist
- If you need to be admitted to a hospital

If you look at your member ID card, you should see the name of your medical network (i.e. PrimeCare of Corona) and the name of your primary care doctor with the phone number. This is who you should contact for all routine care.

Let us give you an example of a similar arrangement not related to health care. You are going to have new kitchen cabinets installed. You go to a home improvement store (ex. Lowe’s or Home Depot) and choose the ones you want. When the people arrive to install them, the delivery van is from “ABC Kitchen Cabinets.”
